HAPPY the nation that has had history, was said when history meant war. Happy is this nation that can afford to take so little interest in nominations to be made at Kansas City this week, and at Houston later. The extent to which the country runs itself, and gets along somehow, is shown in lack of serious public interest in the nation's most important task.

Our President, once elected, has more power than any religious monarch. And our people take it for granted that everything will be all right, no matter who is elected.

Is it not a fact that a half of the voters, at least, are more interested in this year's new automobile than in this year's new President?

Our solemn fathers were so careful in arranging the new Government. The people were to rule, but not absolutely. They would choose electors, superior men, and the electors would select the President.

Now politicians and corporations, about which the fathers had nothing, take the responsibility, while the people look on, taking things as they come, quite content.

Visitors to the Riviera looking over the blue Mediterranean often say to a secretary, or servant: "Look in the paper and see what the weather is like in New York."

If New York is freezing the Riviera dweller is happier. Cotton Mather assured his Puritan New England congregation that the "hundred" in "hundred years" would be permitted to look down and see friends burning in Hell, and be made happier by the sight.

To make our own lot seem bearable, think of brave duds. Noble and his crew, admit on public life.

But the it is frightfully rough, often pitted up to summer, made a small mountain. The gas has "drifted" so long drifts and down at the mercy of the winds. To abandon that dangerous, shifting shelter and its food and heat supplies would be like seeing and killing an occasional bear is the only hope as the fliers wait for rescue.

These brave Italians need all the courage and fortitude that took them on their perilous adventures.

Sean O'Casey, living in Ireland, wrote fine Irish plays, "Juno and the Paycock." "The Plough and the Stars" and other great successes.

O'Casey went to London, got a wife, a dress suit, and, perhaps, a slight English accent, and now the Irish fliers refuse to give him the latest work, "The Silver Tassie."

W. B. Yeats, who would like to be friendly, says the play is too long, without substance, and gets nowhere.

Poor O'Casey is shocked and surprised, but his experience is not new. When Robert Burns went to live in Edinburgh, met fine ladies, with titles, and wrote sonnets, his life was worthless. If Burns had written "Pilgrims Progress" at the Ritz, instead of writing it in jail, it would not have lived. A man reflects his environment and conditions about him.

Some churches refuse to join a hymn-singing contest because they don't like Kipling's "Hymn Before Action." They say Kipling's blood-and-bulver composition would not please the Lord, forgetting some fighting advice that Jehovah gives to his chosen people in the old testament to get us drunk the night before.

Hearst Papers Open Purse Drive for Pacific Fliers

UTAHIA has voted $5000 to Charles Kingsford-Smith and G. T. P. Ulin, the two gliders took the Pacific Ocean from Oakland to Sydney, they deserve it. There was a great feat. Their skill in organization, preparation and actual flying, merit should praise.

The Hearst papers believe that these two Americans are worthy of reward. The Hearst papers believe that America should be as proud of Lyon and Warner as Australia is of Kingsford-Smith and Ulin. Therefore the Hearst papers urge a national drive for a purse to be raised for the two men and a reception given them such as their feat merits.

The Boston Evening American is glad to take the lead in raising the purse for Lyon and Warner. The Hearst papers will start off the fund with the sum of $5000. It should grow rapidly and mount high.

$150,000 TO U.S. BOYS WON PACIFIC 'REFORM' HOP, COOLIDGE IS TOLD

A request for the establishment of a reform movement in political affairs is contained in the will of Charles C. Ely, president and treasurer of the Trust Manufacturing Co. of Roxbury, filed in Suffolk Probate Court today.

Mr. Ely, who died on June 1, leaving a fortune of more than $1,000,000, provided that the income of the reform movement, which aims primarily to establish the one-party principle, should be used to fund the "BANCILTY DROPS $62 IN BIG SELLING WAVE."

New York, June 11 (AP)—A sensational decline of 162 a share in the common stock of the Bancilthy Corporation on the New York stock market, coupled with an increase in bond money from $15 to 6 per cent, started a panic selling movement on the New York Stock Exchange today which carried prices of many stocks down 15 to 110 a share.

General Motors had a "tight close" for the second time in history, 2500 shares changing hands at $11 to $11.50, about Saturday's close of $11.50.

KEEPS IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH KANSAS CITY TO FIGHT FOES' ALLIANCE

Washington, June 11 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, has assumed active interest in the fight for the presidential nomination from the Republican national convention. He is in place and constant touch with his forces through a leased telephone wire from his desk here to the Hoover Kansas City headquarters.

By GEORGE H. HOLMES
International News Correspondent
Kansas City, June 11—The real work of trying to "stop Hoover" got under way today as incoming trains poured into Kansas City the hundreds of delegates with whom the decision ultimately rests.

"He will be stopped," asserted the spokesman of the hard-pressed allies.

"It will be Hoover on the first or second ballot." It is into this situation, with the lines taut, that Andrew W. Mellon will step late today. No schoolroom ever waited more expectantly for the teacher than does this Republican national convention await the coming of the shy, taciturn little leader from Pennsylvania.

It is his convention. He holds the key. If he nods his head one way it will be Hoover. If he nods another way, it is probably won't be Hoover. It may, in that event, be Coolidge, Hughes or any of the struggling and embittered allies against Hoover.

SPEED RESCUE TO NOBILE'S CREW ADRIFF ON ICE FLOES

last voyage to the North Pole more than two weeks ago. One party is led by Gen. Umberto Nobile himself. It comprises six men and includes the two who are injured.

While a great tide of hope and relief had swept through the crew of the base ship Citta di Milano last week, when radio contact with the inner rising Italia was established, there were fears today for the safety of the men cut off from land by the open water leads and ice floes along Northeast Land.

Day and night the Citta di Milano has been straining every nerve for the Italia's signals. The Italia's radio station has been growing weaker and is sending only short reports.

It is not believed that this is an indication that the radio apparatus is failing but that the Italia's operator is saving the energy in the accumulator, which probably will be sufficient only for a few days more.

Meanwhile the Italia, carried food, provisions for at least six weeks, the base crew has no fears for the present regarding the food question, but anxiety prevailed that the drifting ice floes upon which the men are stranded will float into the open sea.

The point at which the Italia came down is off Cape Leigh Smith, the most eastern extremity of Northeast Land, and it is feared that the current will send the ice southward between Northeast Land and Franz Josef Land.

It is that case, if the rescue parties do not arrive immediately, the ice will be carried toward the King Charles Island south of Northeast Land, or even will be carried into Barents Sea.

Barents Sea lies within the pack ice area, but at the present season is open.

Since Friday the Italia's crew has drifted about a mile and a half to the east, being last reported at 24.4 east longitude. This would place the crew just off the tip of Cape Leigh Smith.

NOVA SCOTIAN SHIP ON ROCKS IN HEAVY FOG

St. Pierre, Miquelon, June 11 (AP)—The Lunenburg, N. S., schooner Blundell went aground in a thick fog on the west part of Langlade. The crew of 19 men were safe today but the captain asked for assistance and arrangements were made to send a tug.

Pope Gives Prayer of Thanks That Nobile Is Safe

Rome, June 11 (AP)—Pope Pius rejoined today when Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, handed him a bulletin showing that Nobile and his companions were alive, although two had been injured.

The pontiff said that he was going to raise thanks to God for not having allowed such brave men to lose their lives after performing one of the loftiest of tasks, that of planting the cross on the North Pole.

"Their lives must be preserved for future needs," the pontiff was quoted as saying.

CHECK RUN ON BANK COMPANY IN NONANTUM

The reported disappearance of Amato Pasco, director of the Nonantum Bankers' Company, 495 Waterfront st., Nonantum, caused a run on that institution today. A crowd of 100 excited depositors gathered at the bank demanding their money, but were pacified and induced to leave by officials, who declared the institution was absolutely sound.

Pasco, who lives on Newtonville ave., Newton, was formerly proprietor of a private bank at the same address, known as A. Pasco & Co. Inc. A short time ago the company was succeeded by James J. Jones of Queensbury st., Rte. 1B, who was in Newton court on a worthless check charge, but the case was dropped for lack of prosecution.

MEXICAN LINDY HOPS FOR U. S.

Mexico City, June 11 (AP)—Returning Col. Lindbergh's good-will flight from Washington to Mexico City, Capt. Emilio Carrasco, Mexican army pilot, known as the Mexican Lindbergh, took off from Valhalla flying field in a navigation flight for Washington at 8:10 o'clock this morning.

His plane, the Excelsior-Mexico, took the air after a run of approximately 100 yards, cleared the first fence and then headed for Toluca. It carried 225 gallons of gasoline, sufficient for a 20-hour flight.

The flight expected to reach Washington within 20 hours, or between 8 and 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. His route was by way of Tampico, New Orleans, Montgomery and Atlanta to Washington.

Carrasco is expected to fly in the Mexico-Excelsior to a number of American cities after his Washington reception.

Hoover Leaders Back Jardine's Farm Aid Plan

Kansas City, June 11 (INS)—As a peace offering to the vanquished farmers the Hoover leaders today endorsed a definite farm program to be incorporated in the Republican platform.

IN LIEU OF THE SO-CALLED FARM PLAN
The plan contemplates a Federal revolving fund of $50,000,000 to grant farm cooperatives in marketing basic crops and does not contain the equalization plan for that President Coolidge opposes.

Public bequests of $10,000 each are made to the Boston Dispensary, Massachusetts General Hospital, Children's Aid Society, Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Family Welfare Society of Boston, Boston Young Men's Christian Association, Ely Scouts of Massachusetts, Boston Children's Friend Society, and 150 in the Boston Seamen's Friend Society.

The only bequest to be Louise E. Peterson of Weymouth, a niece, and Edward S. Ely of Boston, a nephew. Two trust funds of $500 each are created for the benefit of Eugene and Anna Peterson, daughters of Louise, and for Louise Peterson.

The income of the residue is divided into six parts, the four above individuals to receive one-sixth and the other six to go to the reform and educational funds, to which the whole residue goes ultimately.

To the American, Harry Lyon, navigator, and James Warner, radio operator, the wealthy sportsman has given a half interest in the profits of motion pictures of the flight. The other half of the profits will go to Kingsford-Smith and Ulm, the pilots.

The motion pictures were taken originally for Hancock's personal film library, and with no thought of public showing.

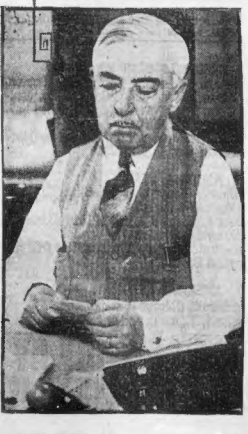

Pictures taken of the preparatory steps of the flight were taken by Hancock's personal photographer, Ulm, from his seat in the plane, shot the scenes of interest during the flight.

Safety Drive Is Great Service to Boston

"The Boston Evening American has rendered the community a great service. It has established a precedent." This was the belief expressed by Boston mothers representative of the Safety Campaign inaugurated and conducted for their benefit and happiness by this newspaper during the month of May significantly resulting in not one child being killed during that time in Boston.

NOT ONE CHILD KILLED IN BOSTON IN MAY! "It's the Power of the Press"

Throughout the city mothers were happy and glad, sounding high their praise of the Boston Evening American for pointing out the dangers of the racing, rushing, pitiless automobile. "It shows what the power of the written word actually is," declared Mrs. Katherine P. Clarke of Newbury st., president of the All-Boston Woman's Democratic Club.

"It poignantly brings home the lesson that the newspaper is the most powerful factor of the day. The Boston Evening American Safety Campaign, directed by Frank A. Goodwin, former registrar of motor vehicles, crusading against the terrible and accidental crimes of the automobile, should be complimented, and in no uncertain terms, for carrying on such an effective campaign."

"The newspaper which gives unstintingly of its valuable space to a cause, civic and social, deserves commendation. The Boston Evening American has done this now, as it has done in the past—everything to help benefit the community and bring joy to mothers."

"Don'ts" Become Daily Gospel

Every day the brilliant and clever articles written by experts on the situation were read to her little sister, Miss Mary Russell, West End, stated.

"The don'ts printed in the Boston Evening American became part of a daily gospel given to her about the dangers of the automobile," she said. "It was made to seem to her almost the words of a Bible and, thanks to the Boston Evening American and its safety campaign, she is still here with us."

Similar words of commendation were uttered by Mrs. Lillian Whalen, Fabian st., South End, mother of Thomas, four, and Dorothy, six.

"They were helpful articles," she said, "and they served

"Greetings in the name of the citizens of America" by the Rev. Edward C. Moore, chairman of the Harvard board of presidents, more than 1200 Congregationalist "pilgrims" today were welcomed to New England in an impressive ceremony at Appleton Chapel, Harvard University. President Lowell was unable to take part in the welcome, due to illness.

The party was headed by the Rev. A. G. Simpson and Sir Murray Hyslop of London, organizers. Following the service the visitors started a general influx to historic spots at Concord and Lexington. Returning to Boston, the party separated into groups for attendance at various church luncheons arranged in their honor.

The party is the largest group of Congregationalists ever to visit from another land. Tonight a civic reception and formal religious welcome will be accorded them at the Park St. Church. Dr. Boynton, presiding, will present Mayor Nichols, Rev. Dr. Davis, Rev. Dr. Berry and Rev. Dr. Jones, who will deliver addresses of welcome.

Tomorrow the party will visit historic spots in Boston, attend exercises at the Hall of Fame, State House, and partake of dinners in more than a score of Congregational churches.

Mrs. Florence A. Downard, wife of Roxbury man, attacks husband for failure to make payments ordered by the court.

Charging that her husband, Rev. Herbert D. Downard, pastor of the Roxbury Swedenborgian Church, from whom she failed to obtain a divorce, had failed to make payments ordered by the court, Mrs. Florence A. Downard of Melrose st., Cambridge, today brought contempt proceedings against him in Middlesex Probate Court.

Mrs. Downard says her husband now owes $28, having failed to obey a decree of November 1927, by which he was to pay her $15 on December 1, 1927, and the same amount on December 31. Also he was ordered to contribute $10 for the maintenance of their minor child on December 1, 1927 and $10 on the first and tenth day of every month thereafter, according to the stipulation.

Mrs. Downard sued for divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, which Judge Lloyd B. Chamberlain found were not sustained. He denied her alimony and complete custody of the one child, Carol Constance Downard, giving the little girl to her mother for 20 days each month. The father was ordered to pay $10 a month for the support of the child, and also $30 costs of court.

2 WOMEN 'GIVE OWN ORDERS' AT KANSAS CITY

By EMILY NEWELL BLAIR
Vice-Chairman Democratic National Committee

Kansas City, June 11—Ladies and gentlemen, here I am at the Republican national convention, all set to tell the world about the women, if any, in and at it.

"At it" there are apathy, national committee women, representatives in headed evening gowns and corsage bouquets, functioning as usual at a dinner—confidentially dubbed by the lady from Tennessee, as a "banquet—Chairman Butler's farewell to the Republican national committee."

Mrs. Alvin Hart, gracious and graceful, also made a farewell speech. At it, she, attracted by the hundreds no more important but as persuasive as Congressmen in the official life at Washington. Important, in this at least that they dress the second best seats at the convention.

WOMEN 'GIVE ORDERS'

"At it," members for the candidates, Laura Curtis in an evening gown costume acting, so she says, as liaison between the women's organizations for Hoover; persons Mrs. Dodson, secretary of delegates and speaking Hoover enthusiastically in the evening arrived delegates and really able if less spectacular ladies in the London Boulevard.

At the convention in addition, newspaper and magazine writers with gay garments, hair styles, and lifted eyes. Of the spectators more men.

But "in it," so "at," two women, only but "in it," they, than any woman at any national convention hitherto, and "in it" on their own feet.

What do I mean by "on their own feet?" "In it," by the grace of their own political ability, standing by the will of their own decisions, and giving out their own orders.

ARE IN TWO CAMPS

These two women, quietly enough, are to be found one in each of the camps of the two leading candidates for the presidency. I say, "quietly enough" because they were not picked and placed there by the party because they needed a woman statistic.

Each of these: termless able while to be there for years of her own. And each is "in it" because she like something to contribute to possible success of these two aspirants, something that the candidates need and know they need.

These women are Mabel Walker Willebrandt and Ruth Hanna McCormick. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general in the force of Herbert Hoover. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee for Congress-at-large.

Sanders in Coolidge

is Silent on Coolidge

Kansas City, June 11 (AP)—Eugene C. Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge and possible leader of word from the White House to the convention, arrived here today as silent on the possibility of Coolidge making another statement about his availability as is the President himself.

Sanders declined absolutely to discuss the President. He would not even confirm rumors that he had a message from Coolidge to the convention and there was no indication that he intended to participate in any of the pre-convention proceedings.

If the secretary has a message from the White House he has made no arrangements for making it public. However, from his room in the Muehlenbach Hotel where he and Mrs. Sanders are stopping, the secretary will be in a position to keep in touch during the day with the White House should it be desired.

Hull Leads Smith

Raleigh, N. C., June 11 (AP)—With but one speech in report, Cordell Hull of Tennessee today led Governor Smith of New York by 311 instructed State convention voters. The State meeting, which will select North Carolina's 11 delegates to the national Democratic convention is to be held tomorrow.

G. O. P. LOOKS NOW ONLY TO MELLON

By RUTH HANNA MCCORMICK
(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate)

Kansas City, Mo., June 11—The Republican convention of 1928, about to write history of tremendous consequence to this nation, is what one man!

Who?

"Uncle Andy" Mellon!

After all our fore and feasters, our best efforts in a thousand directions across the whole country, we approach the great hour in the party, inevitably awaiting one word from this great man.

What? Mr. Mellon will say, what word he will make, what indication he will suggest of implications that may be implied from his first deliberate statement, to one in Kansas City today, probably, his as nothing.

There is speculation but no finality.

The red hot news at this hour is the high probability that Mr. Mellon's decision will be the final judgment of the convention.

It is possible, of course, that Mr. Mellon's decision may not stampede the convention, but it is hardly likely.

Many things have conspired to put Mr. Mellon in this unique position, quite independent of any position or nomination on his part.

In the first place, it is conceded, I believe, he has a record as secretary of the treasury that perhaps has not been surpassed in equal, since Hamilton's time. He has done one of the biggest jobs in our history in more than a creditable manner.

Mr. Mellon is confronted and for the moment swallowed up in two main lines of public opinion—on the one hand, the great middle West, the rising tide of agricultural insistence on a 20-20 deal; the other, the tremendous movement from that part of our country and those lines of industry that do not live by bread alone.

Can these two lines, which on the surface appear almost irreconcilable in an economic sense, be composed? Is there a middle ground? Will we depart from Kansas City this week united, harmonious, strong for fundamental principles of our great party, or will many turn back to the wheat and alfalfa fields and the orchards with heavy hearts and wondering if after all there is an inequality of opportunity under the party of Lincoln and the great Republic?

For my part, I believe it is possible to pick a middle course, to name a candidate and write a platform that will please justice to all.

We may fail to do that and the party yet survive. But it is as certain as death and taxes, I believe, that if we choose the middle road we shall revitalize fundamentals and go forward to assured and insured success for at least a generation and perhaps much longer.

Between Mr. Hoover, the admittedly leading candidate at this moment, and the so-called allies, the lines are pretty drawn.

Platt Andrew Offers Plank to Aid Industry

Congressman A. Platt Andrew, who is a delegate to the National Republican Convention, today sent to the platform committee a plank for American industries whose products are not protected by means of import duties from the competition of cheap production abroad.

This plank is now in successful operation insofar as articles on the subject have been procured, and where chances in costs of production are shown, thus making the established rate of duty inadequate, the President has power to raise or lower this duty as conditions warrant.

Congressman Andrew believes that if this plank, known as the flexible clause of the tariff act were extended so as to include such articles as clothing, shoes, and other goods, it would afford a means of relief from the disastrous competition from abroad.

The Congressman in his communication stated that some 75 allies have been introduced in Congress to levy a duty upon articles now on the free list, whose producers are suffering from growing differences in foreign costs.

Among such articles he mentioned calf skins and best leather, of exclusive interest to Massachusetts, New Jersey and other states, and, he said, and above, in which foreign competition has increased with amazing rapidity.

He suggested that the platform of 1928 contain along with a re-enforcement of the principle of the flexible clause, as was contained in the platform of 1924, a further declaration extending the extension to articles now free of duty.

N. Y. Delegation May Vote as Unit for Coolidge

By RAYMOND L. BORST,
International News Correspondent.

Kansas City, June 11—So bitter has become the feud between the Coolidge and Hoover forces in the New York delegation to the Republican National Convention that today there was talk of invoking the unit rule and voting the Empire state's 40 delegates for the President on the first ballot.

Charles D. Miller, National Committee man, and George K. Morris, State chairman, who have been leading the fight to renominate the President, have been joined by former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr. They have more than enough votes to clamp the unit rule on the delegation.

The test will come late today at a caucus of the New York delegation.

DISTINGUISHED COTERIE ON ILE DE FRANCE

Trio of Girls Who Plan to Study Art at Fontainebleau Traveling on Palatial French Liner, Betty Alden Notes

AMERICANS ABROAD ARE A VERY DISTINGUISHED COTERIE! AND EACH SLEEK and luxurious ocean greyhound adds glamor to the list. Aboard Ile de France, now outbound for French ports, Mrs. John Hays Hammond of Washington and the North Shore is sailing for a foreign holiday. Her party includes her talented and versatile daughter, Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, society belle, author, debater in the arts and whatnot, Miss Leola L. Nichols and Miss Alice D. Laughlin also are members of the Hammond party, together with the couriers and maids necessary in an entourage in keeping with multimillionaire state en voyage.

NOT UNTIL MUCH LATER IN THE SUMMER WILL MRS. HAMMOND AND MISS NATALIE be at the magnificent North Shore estate that is so much remarked and so handsome. On its landside the passer-by catches but a glimpse of wooded cliffs and grassy slopes, dominated by a turreted stone mansion. From the sea, however, the establishment and its surroundings strike one with a fullness of beauty. Essentially of New England sea coast is the whole vista, with its rugged sea rocks topped by grassy slopes and wooded crests, and a chateau that rivals in hoary beauty a castle on the Rhine.

THE ILE DE FRANCE TAKES OUT A TRIO OF GIRLS BOUND first for Paris and later for Fontainebleau, there to woo one of the Muses. In other words, more prosaically, they intend to put in a summer of study at the School of Art in the lovely French town. Miss Joanne Dupes and Miss Constance S. Crook go with this talent, and Miss Elizabeth Safford, accompanying them on the journey. Miss Safford is the daughter of Mrs. Endicott Safford, and Miss Dupes is sister daughter to the William Arthur Dupes, who this winter introduced their third daughter, Miss Laura Dupes.

THE WEATHER MAN MUST BE AN ESPECIAL FRIEND TO THE genial Myopia horseman William Stuart Forbes. Because yesterday, when Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were taking a miniature horse show in honor of Mr. Forbes' Technology class, a perfect day of champagne air and unclouded sky was provided. An original idea, it is giving a horse show for one's friends. But exactly the sort of entertainment the Forbeses would while at, being as they are owners and riders. Long Tree Farm, their country place, is right in the heart of Myopia's wide hunting country, and hardly a stone's throw from the smart club itself.

THE GEORGE H. LYMAN, SENIOR, OF COMMONWEALTH AVE. and the North Shore, have their names inscribed on the France passenger list as just about to arrive on these shores, after another of the regular and frequent journeys abroad with which they vary the social existence. Mrs. Henry Parkman, Jr., is another homecoming Bostonian, and she also is aboard the France. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart of Needham, sailed for London to spend the summer. Cyrus Uffan, the musician, protégé of certain influential fashionables, has sailed abroad for a tour of Central Europe, to renew old acquaintances and make new friends.

THE GOLDEN GALLEON THAT TELLS NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND West Winds for Cohasset Yacht Club sailors goes merrily from the clubhouse cable end, the flag flies aloft and the season may be said to be on. For Commodore William A. Barron's cohorts. Pretty little Cohasset Harbor is alive with craft, ranging in size and majesty from the swift sea-going motor cruiser flying the Commodore's flag, to the midsize 15-footers the small fry may sail so safely in these almost landlocked waters.

THE BARRON SUMMER PLACE ON ITS WOODEN POINT JUTTING seaward is a centre of hospitality, just as the Trust Barronet place on the hill, overlooking the town, is continuously filled with young people. Former Governor Fox's country place called "Green Gables," on Jerusalem st. is open for the summer and recently has welcomed the Governor's daughter, Mrs. W. Whitman Hobbs and her three small children, who are sun from a winter sun from the Public Beach, in California. Later the Hobbs contingent goes to Marlin, to spend the summer at "The Tupelos."

SOCIETY RECRUITS TO THE STAGE SOMETIMES BRING A large measure of good looks and infinitesimal histrionic talent to the new meter. Miss Barbara Merriam, however, has much of the former allied to a rich endowment of the latter, so it goes without saying that she is making a huge success of "Merthe" in "Lassie and the

WOMEN HERE BACK HOOVER AS VICTOR

Robert Hoover will be nominated for President at Kansas City if the hopes of many Greater Boston women are realized.

Four out of five women, asked for their preference, declared for Hoover today. Here are some of the reasons:

MRS. EDWARD M. ROWE, Ferry St., Malden—I would like to see Hoover nominated because I think he is the best man in the country for President today. His experience in public affairs, his world contacts during the war and what he has done right straight through shows him to be a capable, wise choice for the presidency.

MRS. EDWIN GALLAGHER, Crafts St., Newton—Hoover will be nominated. There is no better man in the party.

MRS. EMMA F. COWEN, Cambridge—I think Hoover should be nominated. Personally, I like him best next to Coolidge. If Coolidge will not run Hoover is the best man for President.

MONA A. REID, Aerial st., Arlington—Hoover has proven himself a good, dependable man in office and he is the choice out of all the candidates in the field. I would rather see Hoover nominated than Coolidge.

MRS. MARY C. PHILLAN, Langtree st., West Roxbury—I am not interested in the Republican nomination. My choice for President is Al Smith.

AUTO THIEF SUSPECT IS CAPTURED IN CHASE

Captured after a chase across the Chelsea flats in which four shots were fired, Otto LaFabe, 17, of East Chin st., Everett, was arraigned in Chelsea court today, charged with larceny and unlawful use of an automobile. He pleaded not guilty and the case was continued to June 18. Morris, Klimes of 229 Campbell st., Everett, reported the larceny of his automobile, which some time later was located on Everett's river. Charged by Patrolman Tully and Constable James, Tully started in pursuit, finally catching LaFabe.

"It's Hoover!" Says Newington City June 11 (N.Y.)—It looks like Hoover. I can't see how anything else is possible," said Postmaster Gen. Harry M. New, upon the arrival in Kansas City today.

N.E. APPLE CROP OVER AVERAGE

By Associated Press.
The condition of the apple crop in New England as a whole is considerably higher than last year at this time and well ahead of the 10-year average on June 1, the New England Crop Reporting Service announced today.

In nearly all sections of New England the bloom was comparatively heavy. Maine was an exception, with nearly all varieties carrying a moderate to light bloom.

The final production of apples may not be as great as bloom prospects would indicate. Conditions have been very favorable to a satisfactory set of fruit.

The condition of peaches for New England as a whole on June 1 was 74.5 per cent as compared with 54 last year.

CHEESE RELISH HAS MANY USES ON SUMMER MENUS, SAYS MARTHA LEE

Here's a delicious cheese relish that's "different" and delicious

EVERY now and then I make a real discovery in the food world and am properly delighted. My latest find is a new cheese relish.

Unlike many sandwich spreads, this relish has a basis of delicious cream cheese. To it are added pickles and, I suspect, finely chopped olives, sweet pickles, a dash of green peppers and what other seasonings are needed to achieve its perfection.

I could sit down with a spoon and eat an entire jar of this without bread or other accompaniment.

This cheese relish is made of the finest materials and under the most sanitary conditions. I know it is going to be an indispensable item in the furnishings of many a Sunday picnic basket this summer—among them the Lee family's basket. And wait until Dad discovers how good it is.

Butterd relish has long been popular as an appetizer and it takes on a new zest when this cheese relish is used for its filling. Cutting the relish into half inch pieces and serving it on crisp lettuce with a Russian dressing makes a delightful salad.

And speaking of salads, try this cheese relish with sliced pineapples and chopped nuts for a new and different salad. Not forgetting the importance in the school or business lunch box. Dairy sandwiches, crust-crusted, are truly delicious when filled with this new cheese relish.

Augusta, Me., June 11 (AP)—The report filed today of Harold E. Saunders and E. L. The report coincides with that of the public utilities commission.

LA BRECQUE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR OF QUINCY

Rep. Alfred N. LaBrecque, World War veteran and Quincy business man, today announced his candidacy for mayor of Quincy.

He is serving his fourth year as representative, serving on the House committees on insurance, election laws and military affairs.

During his two terms he fought a winning fight before the Public Utilities Commission for lower electric light rates in Quincy and he successfully opposed a later attempt to establish a service charge.

He also interested himself in Quincy river projects and represented many southern artery shippers in their fight for abatement of beetroot assessments.

"Should the voters select me to be their chief executive for the ensuing two years they can rest assured my administration will reflect credit on the city. The plans I have will be along progressive lines toward advancement of the city," he stated in his announcement.

Political indications forecast at least a four-cornered fight in the historic city.

The Problem of an Engaged Couple

By MARIE FAIRFAX
An Authority on the Problems of Love and Marriage
The problem of an engaged couple is a very serious one. It is a problem that many couples face, and it is a problem that must be solved if the couple is to have a happy marriage. The problem is not one of love, but of practical matters. It is a problem of money, of time, of space, and of the future. It is a problem that must be solved if the couple is to have a happy marriage.

Brides in Ten Cities Tell Housekeeping Plans

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A thousand brides in ten large cities disclosed their household plans in a recent survey.

On one point all these brides agreed: Their homes are to be run with skill, but they will not sacrifice a bit of good to the good of the world. For instance, nearly all have decided how they will keep their homes in good order.

Many had noticed in beauty that pure Lux soap is the best in maintaining, to soften and beautify the fingers. Others had noticed how their hands looked after washing from time with Lux. So, of 115 brides, 104, or 90 per cent, wash with Lux.

Others have decided to let their hands get hot and come-looked, they said. "Many more make the skin harsh, but pure Lux soap is so soothing and gentle! And Lux is so good for the hands, because the big package of Lux washes 6 weeks' dishes."

REPEAT YOUR FACTS

By J. J. MENDY

YOU have difficulty in remembering facts? Then as soon as you hear something you want to remember, tell it as accurately as you can to another.

Perhaps you have noticed that your young dentist talks a great deal about his dental chair. The young doctor is prone to do you call at his office.

More than likely it is for the purpose of introducing his new chair.

You must repeat facts to yourself.

One would help you a lot in getting to facts, to lecture, to tell it as accurately as you can to another. It is the telling it over and over, aloud, to another that counts. You may have been out of school for some years and it troubles you to remember facts and figures, to recall their very meaning. Here, make them your own by a method of repeating to someone.

Remember on paper, compare with the original and then someone.

In order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.

3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of selling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in manufacturing.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

A Gratifying Record

Power of Publicity Has Been Clearly Demonstrated by Boston Statistics on Motor Accidents

NOT A CHILD KILLED IN BOSTON BY AUTOMOBILES DURING THE ENTIRE MONTH OF MAY. A truly remarkable and gratifying record.

The saddest feature of automobile accidents is the killing and maiming of little children. Accidents of this kind rend the hearts of mothers with untold grief and anguish. AND THEY ARE NEEDLESS.

It is no wonder then that every agency interested in accident prevention stresses the necessity for safeguarding our little ones. This was the dominant thought back of the Boston Evening American's Mothers' Safety Don't contest, awards in which are to be announced soon. The impelling aim was to stir up interest in the homes.

The power of publicity has been clearly demonstrated by the result. There is one way only to reduce accidents and that is by constantly keeping before the attention of all, young and old, operator and pedestrian alike, the necessity for eternal vigilance.

The record of fatal accidents to children in the month of May just passed is notable and cheering when compared with the month of May in other years.

Just think of it, as far back as 1924 with 200,000 less cars on the road, 23 children were killed in Massachusetts in the month of May. In May this year there were only 15 killed. In 1925 there were 22 killed, in 1926 there were 20 killed and in 1927 there were 25 killed in May.

It is remarkable to compare those figures with the low record of 15 for this year.

The fact that no child was killed in Boston the entire month of May is particularly gratifying because the greatest toll naturally occurs in the congested streets of large cities.

This record shows what can be done when all agencies interested in safety and accident prevention are mobilized. The credit for this commendable showing can be claimed by no one in particular, but has been the result of co-ordinated effort by the registry department, the police, the courts, operators, pedestrians, teachers and mothers.

And the one thing above everything else necessary to keep alive this feeling of co-operation is education and publicity.

About All There Is in Life

For Kings, Bricklayers or Savages

THE KING AND SOME OF HIS FAMILY

Here you see King George and Queen Mary of England, with one of their sons, the Duke of York, his wife, and their baby, Princess Elizabeth, royal granddaughter.

They are standing on the balcony of Buckingham Palace, that the applauding crowd may see them. And the happiness on their faces is not put on for effect.

This picture isn't interesting merely because it shows a king and queen happy in the possession of a pretty grand child. It is interesting because it shows that among great and small family happiness is what counts.

The king and queen in Buckingham Palace, the humble man in his cottage, our savage ancestor of 100,000 years ago beside his fire in his cave, all have been made happy by THE FAMILY SPIRIT.

First came the FAMILY—father, mother and child—the original "trinity," long before any religious trinity was known. Then came the TRIBE, families united for protection. Bigger tribes, then the NATION. Later with came BROTHERHOOD, of all men on earth, and it will be based on the FAMILY SPIRIT.

A FRIENDSHIP BAG FROM SCHOOLS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A PLAN is on foot to send each primary school in a Mexican village, from schools in America, a friendship school bag.

This is an adventure in good will toward Mexico that will do much toward counteracting the effects of mischief-makers who, on account of business matters, are desirous of making trouble with Mexico.

A similar project dealing with Japan was carried out not long ago with dolls as messengers of friendship, and aroused enthusiasm and response beyond the dream of the sponsors.

The idea is to send Friendship School Bags to the younger children of Mexico. These bags are chosen for the expression of friendliness because of the great movement in that land for popular education. The bags, which are durable, in three colors, and beautifully embossed, may be obtained from the Committee, 289 Fourth Avenue, New York City. They may be filled with serviceable and appropriate gifts having some connection with school life. These bags are being sent to the Department of Education in Mexico City for distribution among the primary children on Mexico's Independence Day, September 16.

Some have already arrived, and Dr. Moises Saenz writes that the Department of Education is "thrilled" with this evidence of the friendliness of the American children.

A letter of introduction is included in each Friendship Bag, together with two pictures of two great Mexican heroes, one of Washington and Lincoln, also one of Lindbergh, who is well-known to the children of Mexico everywhere. There will be letters in them telling of school life and recreation and pastimes.

This is bringing geography right home to the child and is real education.

Over 6000 bags have been sent out and orders are coming in every day.

Churches and church federations, schools and women's societies are co-operating. Generous responses have been received from Worcester, Mass., and Nebraska announces a goal of two bags from every children's group in the state. Indiana and Ohio are hard at work. Rochester, N. Y., aims for 1000 bags. St. Louis, Portland (Maine), Buffalo and Chicago, as well as California and the South are enthusiastically supporting the plan. Much may be made of the "send off" or farewell ceremony for the bags.

For this first twenty years of my existence I didn't look at life at all. My only concern was Elsie Robinson—Myself.

Gradually I dawned on me that there was a big performance going on around me, and that that performance called for my most people.

"But it ain't mine," I said. "I'm not smart enough, but I won't fail. I'll look life."

That was the way I regarded life in the second period of my existence—was something to be looked into by my service. And I didn't have a doubt that I could do the job. Courage—that was what was needed—there, impudence and spunk! So I leaped right in and proceeded to do all the spunky things that life conspired to do for me. Good things—bad things—spunky things—spunky things. I married, I had a baby. I worked. I started. I was rich and poor, sick and well, a failure and a success. In short, I lived life with all its ups and downs and misadventures.

Yet, strangely enough, I didn't seem to be living at all. More and more I felt that life was eluding me. I was "thrilled" with this evidence of the friendliness of the American children.

It made me mad. I thought harder. But at last I stopped fighting. For death broke my heart and left me with no more desire. Then at last, when my eyes were opened of life I saw life. I saw life as a community performance.

I saw that love and hate and hope and fear and joy and grief were not mere, special experiences that had happened just to me—but that they happened to everyone. And that was the best thing that gave them meaning.

My prayers and tears alone had no meaning—but when they were mingled with all other prayers and tears they had a meaning.

My pride alone had no meaning, but when it was mingled with all other pride, it had a meaning.

I alone had no meaning. It was only a little noise that would presently pass away. But when I let my spirit become a part of all other human spirits, I became a part of life.

Life, and out of my mingled spirit there arose something infinitely greater than anything we could have wished for ourselves. Out of the mingling of one little, ugly, weak little there came a great vision of beauty and power, order and justice. Life, alone, had ended at a little gray.

But, I, as part of life, went on and on forever. And so I no longer stand off and look at life. I am part of life now and I take what comes. And nothing can break me or defeat me or hurt me. Life, alone, had ended at a little gray. But, I, as part of life, went on and on forever.

Life, alone, had ended at a little gray. But, I, as part of life, went on and on forever. And so I no longer stand off and look at life. I am part of life now and I take what comes. And nothing can break me or defeat me or hurt me. Life, alone, had ended at a little gray. But, I, as part of life, went on and on forever.

New York Day by Day
NEW YORK, June 11—Diary of a modern Popsy: Up and to see Bluch, the last and best of Hippodrome clowns, a shy, passive little fellow who has made millions laugh. Yet he finds the professional road rocky, albeit reveals more artistry than 90 per cent of present day vaudeville turns.

To walk in the Negro section of Harlem and an unconscious pauper and bawler there not found elsewhere in the city and surrounding scant poverty, too. And the sailor always were advertising cable-walk contests, indicating a revival of this high-stepping of the Nineties.

In the evening to dinner with Anthony LaSalle, formerly of Brooklyn, Kan., was there resplendent in full dress. And an old employer there, too, but to whom I didn't go for he never came to me when I slaved for him. So he had.

LEAN days have come to animal trainers. There are few places left to exhibit their acts. Clutter to animal prevention societies caused their undoing. Circuses and vaudeville circuits are banning their appearance. One famous wild animal trainer is now running a small grocery store.

COURTNEY Riley Cooper tells of an animal trainer who was pounced upon in a cage by an angry lion and eventually torn to shreds. He was finally rescued and removed to a hospital where he has crept between life and death for weeks. Recently he was asked what year the accident took place.

"Let me see," he said, wrinkling his brow. "When was it?" "What happened that year?"

IN later days animal trainers were better protected. Many wore this undercoat and frills of steel. And they had further advantage with chains of poisoned meat.

THE most ferocious wild animal acts were the "frank" shows. They turned a constant, silent, unrelenting against captives. Few tiger trainers escaped the cruel slaying. They were handled chiefly by intimidation and this cruelly kept.

IN apartment houses where slippers are known by names not their own, the elevator operators call them "yels." And elevator men consider such posts best in the city, because of slipping is likely to be more elegant.

ONE of the Great Neck comedians received a telephone call the other evening. Two black references were further required and no children or dogs were permitted in the building. Three months later a red hot mama from the States, with a bullet in her bodice, it shows no matter how careful they are in New York, anything may happen when love scents out the window.

Campaigning by Plane

The Flying Aspiration Will Get a Better Knowledge of the Country.

There is talk of sending one of the nominees of the convention on a tour of the country in a special train.

Alas, that time-honored custom, too, is threatened. During the recent primaries in Indiana one of the contestants, Frederick Landis, came within an ace of winning the prize by campaigning in an aeroplane.

The drone of his motor was usually sufficient to assemble a crowd. Then a landing and a speech or a speech by megaphone while the plane circled the place.

Trains go only where rails lead, but planes go anywhere. The train where it left the stage coach.

Then, too, think of the talking that can be done from a plane between landings, by radio.

It may be more comfortable on a front porch, but the flying aspiration will get a better knowledge of the country.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALJINE MICHAELIS

THEY bend above their whirling looms
Through drabbed day on day,
Within their cramped and aqual rooms,
Yet far afraid they stray.

Sooty time have they for song or rose
In that black country-side,
While all life's stirring pageant goes
Unregarded to them denied.

But there, before their looms, they reign
Within a mimic sphere,
Weaving in rue and courage
Their fancies quaint and queer.

With "Sun, Moon, Stars," and "Lover's Knot,"
"Whig Rose" and "Charlot Wheels,"
The mountain weaver's loom is hot
A hidden charm reveals.
